

April 27 and 28
Connecting People, Food and Resources

Greetings,

On behalf of the Food Summit Planning Committee, we are seeking your support as a key sponsor of the Arizona Food Summit: Connecting People, Food and Resources. The Summit is a goal-driven initiative that works to promote Governor Doug Ducey's mission to help Arizonans pursue a better life.

The Arizona Department of Agriculture and the Arizona Department of Health Services are working with dozens of community partners to bring together 300 people from across the state next month at Seventh and Union at Young's Market Co. (402 South 54th Place, Phoenix, Arizona 85034). While we would we like your help with a sponsorship, we need your help at the Summit to create real solutions.

The Food Summit's goal is to draft a 5-year roadmap to a healthy Arizona. One of the most important aspects to the health of Arizonans is the availability of a nutritious, balanced diet. A good diet can reduce obesity, diabetes, heart disease and other long-term health problems. Arizona is one of few states where agriculture produces food for every food group. The Summit will develop a working plan for a soon-to-be appointed Farm and Food Council that will promote food grown in Arizona as a solution to the state's hunger crisis.

The three session tracks are designed to help enhance current resources and build a stable economic structure for long-term solutions. The Summit will unite food producers, educators, non-profit organizations, government agencies, business and industry to create a plan to enrich the health of infants, K-12 children, older adults and families.
